Cornell Tech Introduction

Cornell Tech produces pioneering leaders and technologies for the digital age. Cornell Tech brings together like-minded faculty, business leaders, tech entrepreneurs, and students in a catalytic environment to produce visionary ideas grounded in significant needs that will reinvent the way we live. Its temporary campus has been up and running at Google's Chelsea building since 2012, with growing world-class faculty, and Master's and Ph.D. students who collaborate extensively with tech-oriented companies and organizations and pursue their own start-ups. Construction is well underway on Cornell Tech's permanent, sustainable 12-acre campus on Roosevelt Island, with the first phase opening in 2017. When fully completed, the campus will include 2 million square feet of state-of-the-art buildings, over 2 acres of open space, and will be home to more than 2,000 graduate students and nearly 280 faculty and staff.

Cornell Tech's campus is currently located at 2 West Loop Road, but for the 2016 ASR reporting period was located at 111 Eighth Avenue (between 15th and 16th Street) in New York City's Chelsea neighborhood, a hub for a number of leading tech companies. It is home to the Joan & Irwin Jacobs Technion-Cornell Institute, which embodies the academic partnership between the Technion-Israel Institute of Technology and Cornell University on the New York City campus.

The Tech campus was located on the 3rd, 8th, 12th, and 15th floors at 111 Eighth Avenue, outfitted with instructional spaces, a studio, meeting rooms, phone rooms, micro kitchens, reception, and open working areas.

Safety and Security at Cornell Tech

The safety of our students, faculty, and staff is of the utmost importance to us. The security of Cornell Tech is provided by Allied Universal Security under the guidance of Richard Silva, Associate Director of Security, who manages and supervises the building & site security team. In addition, he works closely with John Benson (Cornell Tech's Assistant Director of Safety & Security), and Floyd Young (Cornell Tech's Senior Director of Facilities Operations) to coordinate the safety of all campus students, faculty, and personnel. Incidents of a criminal nature are reported to the New York Police Department (NYPD) via the complainant.

The Cornell Tech Safety & Security department provides 24-hour security services. The dispatch office is manned 24 hours per day, is located in the lobby of the Bloomberg Center, and can be reached at 646-971-3611. Additional roving security officers regularly patrol the interior and exterior of the campus and all safety and security systems are inspected routinely on every shift. The Cornell Tech campus is under the jurisdiction of both the RIOCC Public Safety Department and the 114th Pct. of the NYPD.

Preparation of the Clery Report

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act require Colleges and Universities to:

- Publish an annual report every year by October 1 containing three years of campus crime statistics and certain campus security policy statements that are disseminated to the campus community and submitted to the U.S. Department of Education
- Disclose crime statistics for the campus, public areas immediately adjacent to or running through the campus, and certain non-campus facilities and remote classrooms
- Provide emergency notifications to the campus community when a significant threat or dangerous situation involving an immediate threat to the health and safety occurs
- Provide “timely warning” notices of those crimes that have occurred and pose an ongoing “threat to students and employees”

Compilation of information for the annual security report as well as criminal statistics data as required by the Act is accomplished through cooperative efforts with Kieran Kearney (Director of Security and Life Safety), the New York Police Department (NYPD), John Benson (Cornell Tech’s Assistant Director of Safety & Security), and Floyd Young (Cornell Tech’s Senior Director of Facilities Operations). The Annual Security Report informs the Cornell Tech community about important safety procedures, policies concerning things such as sexual assault and violence, crime prevention programs, and campus crime statistics. The statistical information from these reports are provided directly by the New York Police Department, Precinct #10. Each member of the Cornell Tech campus receives an annual email describing the report and providing the web address to obtain a copy: URL: <http://tech.cornell.edu/nyc-campus/>

The Assistant Director of Safety & Security keeps hard copies of the annual security report at the Security Dispatch Office located in the lobby of the Bloomberg Center and will provide one upon request. For more information, contact the Senior Director of Facilities Operations at (646) 971-3660. Prospective employees and students are afforded the same information at the time they obtain an application for employment or admission. Any person may have access to the report and it is posted at: URL: <http://tech.cornell.edu/nyc-campus/>

Reporting Crime and Requesting Assistance

Cornell Tech encourages students, faculty, staff and others who may be on campus or on the contiguous geographic perimeter of the campus to promptly report any past crime, attempted crime or suspicious activity or actual criminal activity to the Associate Director of Security any member of the building security team, the Assistant Director of Safety & Security, the Senior Director of Facilities Operations, or any member of the Cornell Tech administrative team. A security supervisor will expeditiously respond to the condition reported and make necessary notifications to the local police precinct. Whether you are a victim or a witness, you have the responsibility to report crime.

Incidents of crime and other serious emergencies which require immediate assistance, and which occur on the Cornell Tech campus should be reported to the NYPD by dialing 911.

Reports may be made on a confidential basis. An operator will ask the caller some routine questions such as name, address, call-back number, and the nature of the incident being reported. Callers should not hang up until the operator confirms that he or she has all the essential information. Information provided by the caller may be crucial to the safety of everyone involved in the call. If callers believe they are in a hazardous situation and cannot remain on the call long, they should inform the operator of this at the beginning of the call. The operator can then request the minimum information needed to get help, and can get the caller to a safe place. The operator will need to know the caller's location and what happened so the appropriate help can be sent quickly. As difficult as it can be in an emergency, callers should try to remain calm. It can be difficult to understand what a caller is saying for a variety of reasons, including language barriers and bad telephone connections.

Additionally, students should report any crimes or other security concerns involving Cornell Tech and its students that occur off campus to the Assistant Director of Safety & Security or Senior Director of Facilities Operations. Such information assists Cornell Tech with reporting and notification requirements that help ensure the safety of the tech campus community. Criminal activities, as well as other emergencies, can be reported by following the below procedures:

1. Call 911

- Act quickly but calmly.
- Get to a safe place if possible
- Be prepared to describe:

Nature of Incident

- Fire: type and size of fire
- Medical: type of illness or injury and specific cause, if you know it
- Police: the crime or danger and descriptions of suspects, vehicles if any are involved, and the direction of their travel
- Chemical: chemicals involved, quantity, hazards, and injuries

AND

Location of Incident

- Building name
- Room or apartment number
- Street address
- Landmarks near location if outdoors
- Stay on the line. Answer all questions. Let the dispatcher hang up first. If disconnected, call back immediately.

2. If reporting a non-emergency:

- Do NOT call 911
- Contact Cornell Tech Safety and Security Department at 646-971-3611

Access Control and Building Security

Everyone acting on behalf of Cornell Tech must take responsibility for faculty, staff, and student safety, as well as the security of university physical space and the assets contained therein. An essential element of security is maintaining adequate control to ensure that university assets are accessed only by those authorized to do so. This necessitates the tracking of university key systems and access control devices, as well as the locations they access and the individuals to whom they are issued as well as the use of alarm monitoring and video surveillance for security purposes. Responsibility for the management of proper access control rests with the Assistant Director of Safety & Security or Senior Director of Facilities Operations, who will, as necessary, delegate this responsibility to a specific entity within a unit. Issuance of access devices are systematic, need-based, and in accordance with university policy 8.4, Management of Keys and other Access Control Devices. The Director must determine the need for access device issuance, based upon job functions, research needs, and class requirements. Issuance of access devices are kept as infrequent as possible, with consideration given to hours of work, work space, alternatives, frequency, urgency, and sensitivity. Individuals are prohibited from unauthorized possession or duplication of access devices to campus facilities; from disabling or circumventing access devices; and from making changes to access without following the procedures set forth in Policy 8.4.

Access to the building is controlled by security personnel located in the lobby under the Campus Safety & Security department. The Campus Safety & Security department receives safety information relevant to the campus from the NYPD. Cornell Tech maintains a closed building security system. Individuals with Cornell identification are permitted access while unregistered visitors and guests must be announced. Additionally, access for deliveries, vendors, and contractors is usually restricted to alternate locations.

Emergency Notifications

The Campus provides emergency notifications to the Campus community in the form of Timely Warnings and Emergency Mass Notifications (email) when a significant emergency or dangerous situation involving an immediate threat to the health or safety of students or employees, including significant criminal incidents, occurs on campus or in an area surrounding campus that represents a continuing public safety threat. Decisions to disseminate a communication will be decided on a case-by-case basis in light of all the facts surrounding the crime, and/or continuing danger and serious threat to the Campus community.

Timely Warnings

The purpose of timely warnings is to aid in the prevention of similar crimes by alerting the community about the incident and providing information on actions people can take to diminish their chances of being victimized.

In the event that a situation arises, either on or adjacent to the Cornell Tech Campus, that, in the judgment of the Senior Director of Facilities Operations (or his/her designee or other senior staff), in consultation with Cornell Tech leadership, Director of Security and Life Safety Building Security Manager, and the NYPD as appropriate, constitutes a serious or continuing threat to students and employees or the greater institution community, a campus-wide “timely warning” will be issued. The warning will be sent as an email.

These timely warnings contain a brief description of the incident; the date, time, and location of the incident; and precautions to take; however, they will not provide details as found in a press release or news article. The amount and type of information presented in the warning will also vary depending on the circumstances of the crime. Warnings will be issued unless issuing a notification will, in the professional judgement of responsible authorities, compromise efforts to assist a victim or to contain, respond to, or otherwise mitigate the emergency. Significant criminal incidents that might elicit a timely warning include, but are not limited to crimes of violence, Clery reportable crimes, or patterns of property crimes.

Anyone with information about criminal incidents that might warrant a timely warning should report the circumstances to the Senior Director of Facilities Operations at (646) 971-3660 and, in the case of an emergency, to the NYPD by calling 911.

Emergency Mass Notifications

In the event that a situation arises, either on or adjacent to the Cornell Tech campus, that, in the judgment of the Security Manager (or his/her designee), the Senior Director of Facilities Operations (or his/her designee) or NYPD, constitutes a significant emergency or dangerous situation involving an immediate threat to the health or safety of the campus community, an Emergency Mass Notification, or EMN, is written and distributed, without delay, to the entire Cornell Tech community using email. An emergency mass notification would not be distributed only if it could compromise efforts to contain the emergency.

The Campus Safety & Security department regularly conducts scheduled building fire drills (at least one every quarter) and evacuation drills (at least once a year), in accordance with NYC regulations, for the entire campus.

Campus Safety and Crime Prevention Outreach Programs

Cornell Tech Safety & Security offers these crime-prevention and public-safety outreach programs and services at no cost to any Cornell group or organization:

- Personal Security is directed at preventing crimes of violence. It includes a demonstration of personal alarms and a discussion of illegal self-defense weapons.
- Sexual Assault Awareness discusses the law regarding sexual assaults; what is consent; how to change social norms; bystander intervention; the many options a victim/survivor has; and what resources are available on and off campus.
- Cash Handling is designed for retail personnel and focuses on managing cash, identifying counterfeit currency, and handling robbery, bad checks, credit-card fraud, and more.

- Violence in the Workplace discusses types of violence, how to identify potentially violent behavior, how to prevent a violent situation, and how to react to one.
- Identity Theft discusses what identity theft is, how to avoid it, what to do if you become an identity-theft victim, and whom you need to report it to.
- Active Shooter Awareness teaches strategies for dealing with an active shooter on campus, before and after police arrive on the scene.

Contact Assistant Director of Safety & Security at 646-971-3611, or the Senior Director of Facilities Operations at (646) 971-3660, or send email to security@tech.cornell.edu to inquire about any of these programs, services, video resources and training materials.

Alcohol and Drugs

Cornell University assists members of the university community in understanding the risks associated with consuming alcohol and the need to prevent the harm that results from its misuse and abuse. The university's policy on Alcohol and Other Drugs includes general guidelines regarding alcohol and other drugs, procedures for holding events at which alcohol is served, information about harm that can result from drinking or drug use, and a list of campus resources.

Any member of the Cornell community who is planning a university event with alcohol needs to be familiar with the requirements of the policy, available at <http://www.dfa.cornell.edu/treasurer/policyoffice/policies/volumes/governance/alcohol.cfm>

The unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispensation, possession, use, and/or sale of controlled substances or other illegal drugs is prohibited.

The university is committed to upholding local, state, and federal law; requiring proper management of events where alcoholic beverages will be served; minimizing the misuse of alcoholic beverages; maintaining a drug-free workplace; and providing education on the risks associated with the use and abuse of alcohol and other drugs. In addition, the Cornell Campus Code of Conduct sets forth disciplinary procedures and sanctions for violations of the policy on Alcohol and Other Drugs. The code is available at

<http://www.dfa.cornell.edu/treasurer/policyoffice/policies/volumes/governance/campuscode.cfm>

Sexual Violence

Sexual Assault, Domestic Violence, Dating Violence, and Stalking

Cornell University is committed to providing a safe, inclusive, and respectful learning, living, and working environment for its students, faculty, and staff members. To this end, Cornell will not tolerate sexual and related misconduct. Through Cornell University Policy 6.4, and the applicable procedures for students, staff, and faculty, the university provides means to address bias, discrimination, harassment, and sexual and related misconduct, including gender-based harassment, sexual harassment, sexual assault, domestic and dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation. If you have experienced misconduct not covered by Policy 6.4, you may pursue a complaint under the Campus Code of Conduct. See page 22 for more information on the Campus Code of Conduct.

In an ongoing effort to prevent sexual violence, the university provides education and prevention programs for the Cornell community, pursues all complaints of sexual and related misconduct, dispenses disciplinary action where appropriate, and provides complainants with information on pursuing criminal or other legal action. The university's compliance efforts are led by a team of Title IX coordinators, who address all Title IX reports, including formal complaints of prohibited conduct, and take steps to identify and address any patterns or systemic problems that arise during the review of such reports. The contact information for the University Title IX Coordinator and Deputy Title IX Coordinators is available at titleix.cornell.edu. To view the entire policy on Prohibited Bias, Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual and Related Misconduct, see Policy 6.4.

Prohibited Student Conduct Under Policy 6.4

Where the accused is a student, the applicable procedures and specific prohibited student conduct are set out in detail in the "Procedures for Resolution of Reports Against Students Under Cornell University Policy 6.4," available at titleix.cornell.edu. Cornell prohibits students from engaging in: Dating Violence, Domestic Violence, Sexual Assault, Sexual Exploitation, Sexual and Gender-Based Harassment, Stalking, Aiding Prohibited Conduct, Attempting Prohibited Conduct, Retaliation, and Violating an Interim Measure.

Sexual assault is (1) sexual intercourse or (2) sexual contact (3) without affirmative consent.

(1) Sexual intercourse means any penetration, however slight, with any object or body part, as follows: (a) penetration of the vulva by a penis, object, tongue, or finger; (b) anal penetration by a penis, object, tongue, or finger; and (c) any contact, no matter how slight, between the mouth of one person and the genitalia of another person. (2) Sexual contact means intentional sexual touching, however slight, with any object or body part, whether directly or through clothing, as follows: (a) intentional touching of the lips, breasts, buttocks, groin, genitals, inner thigh, or anus or intentionally touching another with any of these body parts; (b) making another touch anyone or themselves with or on any of these body parts; and (c) intentional touching of another's body part for the purpose of sexual gratification, arousal, humiliation, or degradation. (3) Affirmative consent is a knowing, voluntary, and mutual decision among all participants to engage in sexual activity. Consent can be given by words or actions, as long as those words or actions create clear permission regarding willingness to engage in the sexual activity. Silence or lack of resistance, in and of itself, does not demonstrate consent. The definition of consent does not vary based upon a participant's sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression.

Dating violence is any intentional act or threatened act of violence against the complainant committed by a person who is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature with the complainant. Dating violence also may take the form of behavior that seeks to establish power and control over the complainant by causing the complainant to fear violence to themselves or another person. Such behavior may take the form of harassment, property damage, intimidation, and violence or a threat of violence to one's self (i.e., the respondent) or a third party. It may involve one act or an ongoing pattern of behavior.

Domestic violence is any intentional act or threatened act of violence against the complainant committed by (1) a current or former spouse or intimate partner; (2) a person with whom the complainant shares a child; or (3) anyone who is protected from the respondent's acts under the domestic or family violence laws of New York. Domestic violence also includes behavior that seeks to establish power and control over the complainant by causing the complainant to fear violence to themselves or another person. Such behavior may take the form of harassment, property damage, intimidation, and violence or a threat of violence to one's self (i.e., the respondent) or a third party. It may involve one act or an ongoing pattern of behavior.

Stalking is engaging in a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to (a) fear for their safety or the safety of others or (b) suffer substantial emotional distress.

Prohibited Staff/Faculty Conduct Under Policy 6.4

Where the accused is a staff or faculty member, the applicable procedures and specific prohibited conduct are set out in detail in the "Procedures for Resolution of Reports Against Staff Under Cornell University Policy 6.4" and the "Procedures for Resolution of Reports Against Faculty Under Cornell University Policy 6.4," available at titleix.cornell.edu, which prohibit staff and faculty from engaging in: Prohibited Discrimination, Protected-Status Harassment (including Sexual Harassment), Sexual Violence, and Retaliation.

Sexual Violence is a broad term that refers to physical acts perpetrated without affirmative consent or when a person is incapable of giving affirmative consent (see definition above). This includes rape, sexual assault, sexual battery, sexual abuse, and sexual coercion.

New York State Law

"Sexual offenses," "family offenses," and "stalking" are crimes in New York State.

New York State ("NYS") does not specifically define sexual assault. However, sexual offenses (including rape and sexual abuse) are criminal offenses under New York State law. Under NY penal code, lack of consent to a sex act results from (a) forcible compulsion, (b) incapacity to consent, (c) no express or implied acquiescence, where the offense charged is sexual abuse or forcible touching, or (d) clear expression of non-consent, where the offense charged is rape. NYS state law states that a person is incapable of consent when he or she is (a) under the age of 17, (b) mentally disabled, (c) mentally incapacitated, (d) physically helpless, or (e) committed to the care of the state.

NYS does not specifically define domestic violence or dating violence. However, in NYS, "family offenses" are certain violations of the penal code, including but not limited to harassment, sexual abuse, stalking, and menacing, committed by a family member or intimate partner that have created a substantial risk of physical or emotional harm to a person or a person's child.

Under NYS penal code, stalking is an intentional course of conduct, directed at a specific person, that causes fear for their health, safety or property, or the health, safety or property of their family or acquaintances; harm to the mental or emotional health of that person; or fear that their employment, business or career is threatened.

For more information, contact Cornell Tech Safety & Security at (646-971-3611). To review the NYS penal code go to public.leginfo.state.ny.us.

Seeking Medical Help and Preserving Evidence

If you are the victim of an act of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking, you are encouraged to seek health care services such as those offered by local hospitals. You will benefit from being examined for physical injury and/or disease. You may also need to discuss the risk of pregnancy. If you require medical care after an assault has occurred, the Cornell Tech Safety & Security Department will arrange to transport you to the nearest city hospital (via EMS).

If you are considering a criminal action, seek medical care at the nearest city hospital as soon as possible. Do not bathe, shower, douche, or change your clothes before you go. If you do, you may inadvertently remove important evidence. The kind of evidence that supports a legal case against an assailant and may be helpful in obtaining an order of protection should be collected within 96 hours of an assault. A special medical examination will be conducted by emergency room personnel to collect evidence at the same time as you receive medical care. Keep additional evidence of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence and stalking. Save emails, texts, voicemails, letters, notes, etc. Photograph anything of yours that the abuser damages and any injuries that the abuser causes. If there are any witnesses, ask them to document what they saw. Every piece of information you collect could help you should you decide to move forward with a criminal action and may be helpful in obtaining an order of protection.

Reporting the Incident

If you have experienced sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking, you have the right to make a report to local law enforcement, and/or state police or choose not to report; to report the incident to Cornell; to be protected by Cornell from retaliation for reporting an incident; and to receive assistance and resources from Cornell. All reports will be taken seriously. If you report an incident, you may choose whether to file a complaint. Cornell Tech Safety & Security can assist you in filing a criminal complaint and in obtaining a court order of protection. The Title IX Coordinator can assist you with notifying law enforcement authorities and filing a complaint under Policy 6.4. Even if you are unsure about filing a complaint, consultation with the Title IX Coordinator can lead to actions being taken on your behalf, including accommodations, such as assistance in changes to academic, living, transportation and working situations, and protective measures, such as no-contact orders.

Reporting to the Police and Protective Orders. You are encouraged to report to the Cornell Tech Safety & Security or a local law enforcement agency any incident of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking. A report is an account or description of a specific incident. You may make a report without filing a criminal complaint. You may do so by phone, Bluelight phones, in person, or in writing. Please tell the Cornell Tech Safety & Security if you are safe and about any injuries you may have. You will need to explain where and when the incident took place and whether the assailant is known to you. You may request transportation to medical and/or psychological care. The Cornell Tech Safety & Security will offer assistance in notifying local law enforcement, if you so choose, and provide information on pursuing a criminal complaint or other legal action, such as an order of protection. In New York, Family Courts, criminal courts, and Supreme Courts can all issue orders of protection. The University will comply with and Cornell Tech Safety & Security will enforce an order of protection, or similar lawful order issued by a criminal, civil, or tribal court.

Reporting to Cornell. You have the option of reporting the incident to the University by contacting a Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Title IX Coordinator. The University Title IX Coordinator has primary responsibility for receiving reports and processing complaints concerning prohibited conduct under Policy 6.4 (including sexual and gender-based harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking) by students. The University Title IX Coordinator can be contacted at 607.255.2242 or titleix@cornell.edu. The director of the Office of Workplace Policy and Labor Relations (WPLR), also a deputy Title IX Coordinator, has primary responsibility for receiving reports and processing complaints concerning prohibited conduct under Policy 6.4 (including sexual violence and sexual harassment) by faculty and staff members and non-Cornell community members, and can be contacted at 607.255.7232 or equalopportunity@cornell.edu. You may also email a report to titleix@cornell.edu or submit an online report at biasconcerns.cornell.edu. The Title IX Coordinators can assist you in notifying Cornell Tech Safety & Security Department or local law enforcement if you choose to do so.

Adjudication of a Complaint under Policy 6.4

If you so request, the University will promptly initiate a formal complaint process under Policy 6.4. Under Policy 6.4, the University Title IX Coordinator and WPLR are responsible for accepting, processing, determining jurisdiction, and overseeing the investigation of formal complaints.

The University's response to sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking, will be prompt, fair, and impartial from the initial response to a report to the final resolution of a formal complaint. It will be conducted in a manner that is consistent with the University's policies and is transparent; provides timely notice of meetings or proceedings at which either party may be present; and provides timely and equal access to both parties and appropriate officials to any information that will be used in the resolution of a formal complaint. The University will keep both parties informed of the complaint's status, as appropriate, including providing simultaneous notification, in writing, of the result of a disciplinary proceeding that arises from an allegation of dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking, the procedure for appeal, any change in the outcome, and when the outcome becomes final. Appropriately trained individuals—who receive annual training on domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking, and how to conduct such proceedings in a way that protects the safety of both parties and promotes accountability, and who do not have a conflict of interest or bias for or against the complainant or the respondent—will conduct sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking proceedings.

Standard of Evidence. The standard of evidence under Policy 6.4 is a preponderance of the evidence (i.e., it is more likely than not that the conduct has occurred).

Retaliation. Cornell University prohibits retaliation. All who may be involved in a complaint are warned against retaliation during an investigation. If you experience retaliation, report it to the University Title IX Coordinator or WPLR.

Interim Measures. The University offers a range of resources, support services, and measures to protect the safety and well-being of the complainant, the respondent, and the community and to promote an accessible educational environment. After receiving a report or pending resolution of a complaint, the university may put in place interim measures, including reasonably available accommodations, such as assistance in changes to academic, living, transportation and working situations, and protective measures, such as no-contact orders, security escorts, or temporary suspensions (where there is a formal complaint). The University Title IX Coordinator is responsible for issuing interim measures for students.

Advisors. The complainant and the respondent may seek the advice of an advisor of their choice. An advisor may accompany the party to all meetings and proceedings, but may not speak on the party's behalf or otherwise interfere with meetings or proceedings.

Sanctions. Disciplinary sanctions in matters against students may include measures similar in kind to interim measures; appropriate educational steps (such as alcohol or drug education, reflection papers, counseling, or directed study); restrictions or loss of specified privileges at the University for a specified period of time; oral warnings; written reprimands; disciplinary probation for a stated period; suspension from the University for a stated period not to exceed five (5) years, or indefinitely with the right to petition the Hearing Panel in writing at any time for readmission after the academic term following the academic term in which the suspension occurred; and dismissal from the University. Disciplinary sanctions in matters against staff and faculty may include corrective actions, educational sanctions, termination of employment, suspension, or dismissal from the university.

Procedure for Formal Complaint Against Students. A formal complaint against a student for sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking may be filed with the University Title IX Coordinator under Policy 6.4 at any time as long as the respondent is a student at the time of the complaint. The formal complaint procedure for students is comprised of an investigation, a hearing, and an appeal.

During the investigation, an appropriately trained investigator will gather information from the parties and other individuals who have relevant information, and gather relevant available evidentiary materials, including physical evidence, documents, communications between the parties, and other electronic records and media as appropriate. The parties will be interviewed separately and will not appear in the same room during the investigation. The parties will have the opportunity to review and comment on the information gathered by them investigator prior to the investigator submitting an investigative report and record to the Hearing Panel. Both parties will receive a copy of the investigator's report and record simultaneously. All individuals involved in the investigation will be treated with sensitivity and respect and the investigation will be completed as expeditiously as possible.

Findings of responsibility and determinations regarding sanctions and remedies are made through a hearing process conducted by a three-member Hearing Panel and a non-voting Hearing Chair. All efforts will be made to provide the hearing notice no later than seven business days prior to the hearing and to schedule the hearing as soon as practicable. The parties may submit written opening statements and requests for witnesses within five days of receiving the investigative report and record (which period may be extended for good cause). The parties may request questions to be asked of witnesses by the Hearing Panel and may make an oral closing argument. The parties will not appear in the same room during the hearing and may never directly address each other during the hearing. The Hearing Panel conducts all questioning. The Hearing Panel will issue a written decision as expeditiously as possible upon completion of deliberations.

The complainant and the respondent have equal rights to appeal the Hearing Panel's findings on responsibility and determinations regarding sanctions and remedies. Appeals must be submitted in writing within ten business days of receipt of the Hearing Panel decision (which period may be extended for good cause). All appeals will be heard by a three-member Appeal Panel that includes the Provost and the Vice President for Student and Campus Life, or their designees, as two permanent ex officio members and a member of the Hearing Panel pool as the third member. The Appeal Panel will establish a reasonable schedule for issuing a written decision, typically no later than thirty business days. This decision is final and not subject to further appeal.

At any time after a Formal Complaint has been filed and before a hearing commences, the parties may seek to resolve a report of prohibited conduct through Alternate Resolution, an administrative process. Participation in Alternate Resolution is entirely voluntary; the Title IX Coordinator will neither pressure nor compel either party to participate in the process or agree to any specific terms. Alternate Resolution will not involve mediation, or any face-to-face meetings, between the complainant and the respondent.

Procedure for Formal Complaints Against Staff and Faculty.

A formal complaint against a staff or faculty member may be filed with WPLR within six months of an incident. Students may also bring a formal complaint against faculty, in the context of a subordinate-supervisory relationship between the faculty member and the student, such as in relation to teaching, advising, research, and thesis or dissertation supervision, within one year after the student is no longer under the supervision of the faculty, or three years from the date of the incident, even if the student is no longer affiliated with the university, whichever is earlier.

Adversarial hearings, (including confrontation, cross-examination by the parties, and active advocacy by attorneys) are not part of the staff and faculty procedures. The parties are interviewed separately as a part of the fact-finding process and are not required to be present in the same room. Upon conclusion of the fact-finding investigation, the investigator will produce a written investigation report. The report is provided to a single reviewer who will review the investigative report, including the evidence, determination, and/or recommended sanctions or remedial measures.

The reviewer provides both parties with a copy of the investigator's report simultaneously, and each has ten business days from receipt of the report (which period may be extended for good cause) to submit a response to the reviewer for consideration. The reviewer may accept, modify or reject the investigator's findings and recommended sanctions. In the case of complaints against staff members, the parties have the right to appeal the reviewer's decision to the Vice President for Human Resources or designee. In the case of complaints against faculty members, the parties have the right to appeal to the Provost or designee. Appeals must be submitted in writing within ten business days of receipt of the final determination (which period may be extended for good cause). The individual hearing the appeal will decide the appeal procedures. The university official hearing the appeal issues a written decision, simultaneously, to the parties. This decision is final and not subject to further appeal.

Privacy and Confidentiality

Privacy. Please see "Resources for Victims" below for information on Confidential Resources if you do not wish to report the incident to the University, but wish to seek confidential assistance and advice. All Cornell offices and employees, including the Title IX Coordinators, will maintain your privacy to the greatest extent possible. The information you provide to a non-confidential resource will be relayed only as necessary for the Title IX Coordinator to investigate and/or seek a resolution.

Complainant's desire for confidentiality or decision not to pursue resolution under Policy 6.4.

Upon receiving a report, the University strongly supports a complainant's desire for confidentiality or decision not to pursue resolution under Policy 6.4. If the complainant decides not to pursue resolution under Policy 6.4, the University will honor the complainant's request if doing so does not impact the University's ability to provide a safe and non-discriminatory environment for all members of the University community, including the complainant. The Title IX Coordinator will evaluate requests for confidentiality. Regardless of whether the complainant requests confidentiality or decides not to pursue resolution under Policy 6.4, the Title IX Coordinators will assist the complainant with reasonably available accommodations, which may include academic, housing, transportation, employment, and other accommodations. These accommodations will vary depending on the nature of the reported prohibited conduct, whether the complainant is a student, faculty or staff member, and the wishes of the complainant regarding confidentiality. The Title IX Coordinator will maintain as private any accommodations or protective measures provided to the complainant. The Title IX Coordinator may disclose to an appropriate university official only information that is necessary to provide the accommodations or protective measures in a timely manner.

Privacy of Complaint Process. The university recognizes that participants should be protected from unreasonable disclosure of their involvement in processes under any of the applicable procedures, and of any information they reveal during their participation. However, the university also recognizes that there are legal mandates that govern disclosure and afford participants certain rights to disclose information related to matters under this policy. The university encourages parties not to reveal any information they learn in the course of their participation in processes set forth in the applicable procedures, other than for the purpose of consulting with advisors and attorneys, and incidental to seeking support and advice from family, clergy, health professionals, and others playing a similar role. If you are eighteen (18) years or older, no university office will contact your parents or other family members. Friends, faculty, coaches, supervisors, co-workers, etc. are not contacted either, unless they are witnesses or necessary to implement interim measures or resolution. Parties may choose whether to disclose or discuss with others the outcome of a Policy 6.4 complaint. The University will complete publicly available recordkeeping, including Clery Act reporting and disclosures, without inclusion of personally identifying information about the victim.

Resources for Victims

The university assists victims of sexual assault. In addition to health care and the complaint process, the university will provide counseling and other support services on campus for students, faculty, staff, and visitors who are victims of sexual assault. If you have experienced sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence or stalking, the University strongly encourages you to seek assistance. A number of resources are available to help:

For confidential support, seek assistance from:

- Cornell Health (medical and mental health providers, students only: 607-255-5155)
- The Faculty and Staff Assistance Program (FSAP) (mental health providers, faculty and staff only: 607-255-2673)
- Cornell United Religious Work Chaplains (CURW) (pastoral counseling: 607- 255-6002)
- The Ithaca Advocacy Center's 24/7 hotline (607-277-5000)
- The Cornell Victim Advocate (607-255-1212, victimadvocate@cornell.edu)
- The director of the Women's Resource Center (WRC) (607-255-0015, wrc@cornell.edu)
- The director of the LGBT Resource Center (607-254-4987), lgbtrc@cornell.edu
- The University Ombudsman (607-255-4321)

Conversations with the University's "confidential resources" are kept strictly confidential and, except in rare circumstances, will not be shared without explicit permission, as explained below: Cornell Health, FSAP, and CURW will not share with the University's Title IX Coordinator or any other University officials any information disclosed to them in the course of providing medical and/or mental health services or pastoral counseling. Generally, these conversations are also legally privileged in the event of court proceeding. The Victim Advocate, directors of the WRC and LGBT Resource Center, and the Ombudsman will not convey any personally identifiable information to the University Title IX Coordinator or any other University officials; however, they may share with the University's Title IX Coordinator de-identified statistical or other information regarding prohibited conduct under Policy 6.4. The Advocacy Center is independent of Cornell and has no duty to consult with the University.

For confidential support resources other than those listed above, call the New York State Domestic and Sexual Violence hotline (1-800-942-6906).

Cornell faculty and staff, other than those designated "confidential" above, have a duty to consult with a Title IX coordinator once they become aware of an alleged incident of sexual and related misconduct, such as sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking, that involves a student as either the complainant or respondent. Those university officials who cannot guarantee confidentiality will maintain a person's privacy to the greatest extent possible. The information provided to a non-confidential resource will be relayed to the Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Title IX Coordinator only as necessary for the Title IX Coordinator to investigate and/or seek resolution

The university can also provide assistance with changing academic living, transportation, and working situations and obtaining protective measures, even if you choose not to file a formal complaint with the university or initiate a criminal proceeding, if you so request and such accommodations are reasonably available. Such measures do not require a full investigation, nor a detailed conversation with you or the person whose behavior is in question.

The University will provide any student, faculty or staff member reporting incidents of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking with written notification of their rights and options, including the options for assistance detailed above, and other services available for victims, both within the institution and in the community.

Prevention and Awareness Education

Cornell is committed to providing sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking prevention and awareness education in order to foster a positive, respectful, and safe climate for all members of our community. The University's comprehensive educational programs and campaigns are culturally relevant, inclusive of diverse communities and identities, sustainable, responsive to community needs, informed by research or assessed for value, effectiveness or outcome, and consider environmental risk and protective factors as they occur on the individual, relationship, community, and societal levels. Primary prevention and awareness programs for incoming students and new employees include a statement that the university will not tolerate sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking, and defines those terms and affirmative consent in reference to sexual activity; a description of safe and positive options for bystander intervention; and information on risk reduction.

The University's primary prevention and awareness programs for new students include undergraduate students attending two mandatory interactive orientation programs during their first week on campus. The first, Speak About It, addresses the context of sexual violence, harassment, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking and provides positive intervention strategies to employ when students observe behavior that could lead to risk or a negative outcome. At that program, students receive written information about their rights and options. The second program, Identity and Belonging, introduces new students to Cornell's values and expectations related to identities and bias, and to the campus-wide commitment to promoting a spirit of inclusiveness and respect for all members of the campus community, creating a sense of belonging for everyone. Both programs are followed by moderated discussions led by Cornell staff. New undergraduate students are also required to complete AlcoholEdu, an online, interactive alcohol education course prior to arriving on campus.

Graduate and professional students are required to complete Not Anymore for Graduate Students, an online sexual and gender-based harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking awareness and prevention educational program that provides options for bystander intervention and information on risk reduction. Graduate and professional students also receive written information about their rights and options and are offered other educational resources and primary prevention and awareness programming through their different colleges and the Graduate School. Graduate School programming includes interactive seminars and presentations held throughout the year.

Important information about Cornell resources, support services, policies and prevention messages is provided campus-wide in print materials found in on-campus academic and student services offices.

The university produced a training webinar entitled "Building a Culture of Respect" which during the 2016-2017 academic year was completed by 1485 new academics and staff. This online program deals with prevention and awareness of protected status discrimination and harassment, sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking, emphasizing the requirements under Title IX to refrain from acts of sexual discrimination, harassment, and violence and how to report such incidents to the appropriate Title IX coordinators, get help, and prevent recurrences. All employees are required to view "Building a Culture of Respect" as part of their onboarding process.

Numerous additional educational programs and campaigns are conducted by Residential Programs, Dean of Students, Cornell Health, Cornell Tech Safety & Security and other university units/ departments throughout the academic year. Some examples include: the Community and Respect ("CORE") Residential Advisors program, which conducts ongoing prevention and awareness campaigns on moral and ethical awareness, including consent, by-stander intervention, holding peers accountable to their actions, and multicultural competence; peer education programs, such as Consent Ed, Cayuga's Watchers, and Wingman 101, that promote the value of being a caring community, educate students about risk reduction and positive options for bystander intervention, and primarily reach students in Greek life, athletic teams and residence halls; annual training for all student-athletes covering sexual violence topics and resources at Cornell; programming sponsored by the LGBT and Women's Resource Centers related to consent, healthy relationships and Cornell's caring community; on-going training for student organizations on the potential consequences of high risk drinking and how to reduce risks; required training for all registered student organization officers to raise awareness about sexual assault, dating/domestic violence, and stalking and provide resources; training for residential staff on how to respond to a report of sexual violence; peer-led interactive trainings for students on topics including building healthier relationships, sex and values, self-esteem, substance abuse, and suicide prevention; the Cornell Social Consultant Program, a student sexual violence prevention initiative that aims to reduce sexual and intimate partner violence by creating a campus culture in which respect and positive relationships are the norm; university public health fellows who, among other responsibilities, facilitating sexual violence prevention and education outreach programs and guide the Greek Health and Wellness Initiative; and Intervene, a video and facilitated workshop demonstrating a variety of scenarios—sexual assault, sexual harassment, intimate partner abuse, hazing, an alcohol emergency, emotional distress, and bias—and showing how students can make a difference in each of them.

The university maintains comprehensive website “SHARE-Sexual Harassment and Assault Response and Education,” share.cornell.edu, which provides resources and updated information for faculty, staff, students, visitors and the community at large covering: getting care, reporting options, university policy and laws, resources (including detailed information on risk reduction), and education and engagement (including descriptions of safe and positive options for bystanders' intervention). The Office of the Title IX Coordinator also maintains a website titleix.cornell.edu.

Sexual Offender Notice

The state of New York requires sex offenders to register with the police in the jurisdiction in which they reside. The state makes this information available at www.criminaljustice.ny.gov/nsor/.

Reporting Hate Crimes and Bias Incidents

A hate crime is defined by New York State Penal Law Section 485 as any designated criminal offense or attempted criminal offense in which the perpetrator intentionally selects the person against whom the offense is committed or intended to be committed in whole or in substantial part because of a belief or perception regarding the race, color, national origin, ancestry, gender, religion, religious practice, age, disability, or sexual orientation of a person, regardless of whether the belief or perception is correct.

A bias incident—as defined by Cornell policy 6.4: Prohibited Discrimination, Protected-Status Harassment, Sexual Harassment, and Sexual Assault and Violence—is an action taken against a person or group of individuals that one could reasonably and prudently conclude is motivated, in whole or in part, by the alleged offender's bias against an individual's actual or perceived aspect of diversity, including age, ancestry or ethnicity, color, creed, disability, gender, gender identity or expression, height, immigration or citizenship status, marital status, national origin,

Identifying and Reporting Bias Activity

Cornell has established the Reporting Bias System in order to provide an avenue for the community to report such activity and to receive a timely and appropriate response. To facilitate the assessment of bias incidents and the appropriate intervention steps, reported incidents are routed to the Bias Assessment & Review Team (BART)—the coordinating hub of a network of existing bias liaisons from across the university. The BART may refer complaints to the appropriate university agency—such as Workforce Policy and Labor Relations—or work collaboratively with campus partners to determine the best method of intervention to address discrimination/bias complaints.

Anyone who directly witnesses, experiences, finds evidence of, or hears of bias activity on the Cornell campus—or in an area that impacts the Cornell community—should immediately report the incident online at <http://biasconcerns.cornell.edu>. If the bias activity constitutes a bias crime, as defined by federal, state, and local laws, the report will be shared with the NYPD.

Information about the university's Reporting Bias System is available at the Department of Inclusion and Workforce Diversity. The office is open from 8 a.m.—4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday at 150 Day Hall. Call 607.255.1426, TDD/TTY 255.7066, or go online at hr.cornell.edu/diversity/reporting/bias_response.html. Statistics related to the Reporting Bias System are updated monthly and published at diversity.cornell.edu.

Campus Code and Grievance Procedures

Office of the Judicial Administrator (OJA): Receiving, Investigating, and Pursuing Accusations of Violations of the Campus Code of Conduct (Code)

Location: 120 Day Hall

Phone: 607-255-4680

The essential purpose of the Code is to protect and promote the University community's pursuit of its educational goals. These interests, with respect to the governing of community conduct, include the following: 1. the opportunity of all members of the University community to attain their educational objectives; 2. the generation and maintenance of an intellectual and educational atmosphere throughout the University community; and 3. the protection of the health, safety, welfare, property, and human rights of all members of the University community, and the safety, property, and reputational interests of the University itself. These general interests, of course, are also the subject matter of the public laws of the state and nation.

The Campus Code of Conduct is the University community's code, and hence is the responsibility of all community members. Everyone in the Cornell community—students, faculty, and other employees—is governed by the Code and is under the jurisdiction of the Code; the exception to this is for actions within a faculty or employee's day-to-day work, which are referred to the appropriate employment authority. The Code applies on any part of the Cornell campus, on any other property or facility used by Cornell for educational purposes, and on the property of any University-related residential organization in the Ithaca or Geneva, New York areas. For conduct that poses a substantial threat to the University's educational mission or property or to the health or safety of University community members, jurisdiction can be extended.

Potential violations of the Code are referred to the OJA, and any person—whether a Cornell community member or not—may report a possible violation of the Code to the OJA. The OJA receives, investigates, and pursues accusations of violations of the Code, or of any other regulations as the University Assembly or Board of Trustees may direct. The OJA operates independently of University administration in overseeing Cornell's internal judicial process.

The Code prohibits misconduct, including, but not limited to: assault behavior; sexual misconduct (such as sexual assault or sexual harassment); violation of computer-use policies; possession of forged ID cards; underage possession of alcohol; and, possession of any drug (including marijuana, medical or otherwise). Note that cases of sexual misconduct, such as sexual assault or sexual harassment, are handled under the procedures of Cornell Policy 6.4, rather than the procedures of the Code. (See the section "Sexual Violence" on page 16 of this report.)

Generally, complainants can: decide to pursue a case or not; pursue remedies in civil or criminal courts off campus; attend any relevant proceeding; bring a friend or advisor unconnected to the case to any meeting; receive the free assistance of a victim's advocate; request a no-contact directive in cases involving menacing activity; learn the outcome of cases in which they have filed a complaint; and, file an appeal. Respondents may: bring a friend or advisor who is unconnected to the case to any meetings; receive the free assistance of a Judicial Codes Counselor; question witnesses; confront accusers; present witnesses; submit evidence; request and appeal; and, remain silent. (See the section "Sexual Violence" on page 16 to better understand the procedures for allegations of sexual misconduct.)

Under the Code, cases may be resolved with no action, by a Summary Decision Agreement, or by an adjudicative body comprised of students, faculty, and non-faculty employees. Sanctions following a finding of responsibility may include: a combination of an oral warning or written reprimand, and appropriate educational steps, community work, a fine, restriction or loss of privileges, probation, suspension, or dismissal. Remedies following a finding of responsibility may include restitution or an order to perform or to cease and desist from stated actions.

<https://www.dfa.cornell.edu/policy/policies/campus-code-conduct>

Sanctions and Remedies under the Campus Code of Conduct

The following sanctions may be imposed under the Code:

Faculty Members and Other Employees

- a. Oral warning, educational steps, community work, and fines/restitution, as provided for student offenders

- b. Written reprimand
- c. Suspension from University duties for a stated period not to exceed one month, with loss of salary but not with loss of other rights and privileges
- d. Dismissal from University employ, with termination of any contract or tenure

Students

- a. Oral warning or written reprimand
- b. Appropriate educational steps
- c. Community work
- d. Fine
- e. Restriction or loss of privileges
- f. Probation
- g. Suspension
- h. Dismissal

The following remedies may be imposed under the Code for any population under the jurisdiction of the Code: restitution or an order to perform or to cease and desist from stated actions.

Grievance Procedures

The University has formal grievance procedures that apply to disputes, charges, and complaints between and among academic and non-academic employees and undergraduate and graduate students. The nature of the issue and the parties involved determine which procedures and University offices are used. Here are suggested initial sources of information on grievances:

- Academic Employee Grievances: dfa.cornell.edu/treasurer/policyoffice/policies/volumes/humanresources/grievance.cfm
- Nonacademic Employee Grievances: ombudsman.cornell.edu; hr.cornell.edu/policies/nonacademic/grievance.html

Alcohol and Other Drugs

The university's policy on Alcohol and Other Drugs includes general guidelines regarding alcohol and other drugs, procedures for holding events at which alcohol is served, information about the harm that can result from drinking or drug use, and a list of campus resources. Any member of the Cornell community who is planning a university event with alcohol needs to be familiar with the requirements of the policy, which is available at dfa.cornell.edu/sites/default/files/policy/vol4_8.pdf.

In addition, the Cornell Campus Code of Conduct sets forth disciplinary procedures and sanctions for violations of the policy on Alcohol and Other Drugs. The code is available at dfa.cornell.edu/sites/default/files/policy/CCC.pdf. To reduce concerns about judicial consequences in alcohol-related medical emergencies, the university has established a Good Samaritan Protocol, which is available at health.cornell.edu/resources/health-topics/alcohol-other-drugs/good-sam.
